President's Message by Paul Ward

Ronnie and I just returned from the wonderful Mardi Gras Rally near Sedona this past weekend with 20+ silver beauties in attendance. The New Year's Rally was another terrific gathering - just a month after the super fabulous Thanksgiving Rally at Lake Pleasant. Thank you to everyone who organized these and the many upcoming events for our membership. Rallies are the life blood of a large active Unit like the 4CU.

Rallies are what give us the opportunity to meet and get to know each other, share stories of the trials and tribulations of Airstream RVs, and attract and retain members. In the last four years the Unit has grown significantly and we continue to add to the membership roster (three at the last rally). This has put a huge burden on Terry Rich (and Greg), however Terry continues to give 115% to the club. Thank you from all 4CU members, Terry!

THE 4CU "FORTY TO FARMINGTON CHALLENGE"

The WBCCI International Rally this year is in Farmington, New Mexico from June 26 to July 4. The 4CU already has several folks signed up to attend - wouldn't it be wonderful if we could bring "40" rigs to International and all park together? Ideas have been bouncing around about one or two pre-International rally sites for us to gather at and then coordinate caravans into the International. Some folks coming from the West are planning to gather in Gallup, and there could be a North location too. There may be some of our "working" members who could buy day passes, meet up, and caravan in. Would a few folks volunteer to put together an International Rally Team to help the 4CU make an impact? Contact me if you are interested. Your help would be greatly appreciated!
toocubed@hotmail.com

As you can see in this newsletter, the 4CU has some great rallies coming up in the next few months, the International Rally will be in our territory, and - hot off the press - the Balloon Fiesta in Albuquerque will be hosted by Region 11 this October.

It will be another great year for the Four Corners Unit and we look forward to meeting all of our new members and seeing as many of you as we can on the Rally Road this year. ~ Paul and Ronnie

Rally Report: 4CU Thanksgiving Rally, Lake Pleasant Regional Park, AZ by Julianne Campbell

I would like to thank everyone who came out to join in the Thanksgiving Feast. A very special heartfelt thank you to those who pitched in to make this rally a success - I could not have done it without you! We had much to be grateful for this year: amazing weather, good friends, wonderful entertainment, and oh - the food! What a feast it was for us - and our burro friends who came calling in the wee hours!

It has been my pleasure to host this rally several times - for friends to gather and enjoy each other's company, the holiday festivities, and fantastic food - but the road is calling! I do not know where I will be next year, so my time as host is at an end.

Anyone who would like to take over the turkey reins for 2015, just drop me a note - I would be happy to assist in any way I am able! juliannejillc@msn.com ~ Julianne

by Sergio Quiros & Louis Hall

Once again, the New Year's Eve Rally at Picacho Peak State Park proved to be a success. Although the weather was brisk at times, attendance was at an all-time high. Over 70 members came together to ring in the New Year!

Old and new friends kicked off the event by sharing delicious hors d'oeuvres, stories, and laughter during a Happy Hour/Meet & Greet mixer at the group ramadas. Fast winds and cold rain postponed the bonfire celebration, but Mother Nature made up for it by providing a beautiful morning that included fog and a dusting of snow on the surrounding peaks.

This year's rally event included the Piecing at Picacho Quilting Project, benefiting "Quilts for Kids". Bonnie Bobman coordinated the project, and many members participated by providing their skilled labor and/or donating materials. After a day of hard work, everyone re-grouped at a Happy Hour/Potluck and relaxed around the group bonfire.

On day three, while some members continued to work on the quilting project, others joined Anthony and Tamara Rodriguez for a delicious tamale-making class. These activities were followed by the much-anticipated White Elephant Gift Exchange. As always, there were plenty of interesting gifts; some brand new ones and some old-time favorites reappeared!

Sewstream or ... "Piecing at Picacho"

by Bonnie Bobman (all photos courtesy of Bonnie Bobman unless otherwise indicated)

"Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these courageous couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds" ... and it won't stop the Four Corners Unit (4CU) either!

Once again, it was time for the legendary 8th Annual New Year's Airstream Rally organized by the Four Corners Unit of Wally Byam Caravan Club International (WBCCI)! The rally is held at Picacho Peak State Park just north of Tucson, AZ! The Airstreams began to arrive on Tuesday and would be there until Sunday — definitely taking advantage of a midweek holiday!

For some people, six days of reading a book, hiking the mountains, or simply visiting with friends they haven't seen in a few months or longer can be a blessing. But for me, it was a huge challenge — I can't sit still for that long without some type of project. I could mountain bike with my husband, Alan, for one day, but for five? I knew I could always sew. Then I thought. "Maybe someone else would want to sew, too — not a big project, just something small – maybe even something for charity!"

I mentioned it to Diane Moore, a fellow 4CU Airstreamer, and quilter, and she appointed me chairperson with "Go, Girl, Go!" Our Membership Chair, Terry Rich, suggested that I write up a project proposal and submit it to the 4CU Board to gain their support. (He knew they would love the idea ... and they did!) The Board unanimously responded with enthusiasm. And to expedite planning, they left the choice of charity up to me.

"Quilts For Kids" (QFK) was in the forefront of my mind. I had connected with the organization over the past 5 years but I had a personal connection to them as well. At 6 weeks old, my son spent a week at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, one of QFK recipient hospitals. We were blessed to take home our healthy baby, but some families weren't so lucky ... and had to spend much more time there than we did. QFK was the right choice!

With the 4CU Board on board, planning for the project began immediately. What quilt patterns? How many would really sew? How many would support us with fabric donations? After a mass emailing to the members and a beautiful announcement in our Newsletter, emails began arriving from members ... who were all so excited about this event!

"I don't sew ... but how can I help?"

"My daughter sews and has a lot of fabric, but she is in Oregon; what can I bring?"

"What should I buy with my 50% off coupon from Joann's?"

"I found batting on sale! How much do we need?"

The comments went on and on! So, I began the preparation.

After consulting the Quilt for Kids Web site, I chose a few patterns and shared them to the 4CU members for review. Emails continued ... some even asked if they could start cutting before the event! I was overwhelmed. It was phenomenal.

A few weeks later, while visiting family in Philadelphia I decided to stop by the Quilts for Kids Headquarters and talk to them about the project. What a visit we had! I had the genuine pleasure of meeting Nancy and the rest of the staff and even a few volunteer sewists who come often to the fully equipped studio to sew for the kids. Nancy showed me around and then we talked with everyone about the upcoming Airstream rally weekend. Best of all, Nancy gave me some kits to bring back. They were as excited as I was! Five kits — I hope we could get them done!

When we got back to Arizona, I gathered irons, sewing machines, thread, notions and extension cords together. I even took a weekend to cut up more kits from my donated fabric. So we were set and everything was ready. The only variable was the weather. December/January in Arizona can go either way but our fingers were crossed!

When Alan and I arrived at the rally on Tuesday, the sun was shining and there was a small bite in the air. We settled in and got my machine and his bike out. The forecast predicted that the sun wouldn't last. The quilting event was scheduled to begin on Thursday, but I wanted to take advantage of the sun before it left, figuring I would get a head start on one quilt top before the others arrived.

As predicted, the rain began overnight and at dawn gray clouds began their quick approach. Even though the rain had started and the temperature was dropping, I bundled up, dodged the rain and got the supplies to the ramada. I decided to sew even in the rain ... and though it was cold and rainy others joined in, too! We had about 3 sewing machines set up ... but more importantly, everyone was coming over to find how they could help.

The next thing we knew, tarps were getting hung around the ramada sides to create more shelter. We had only limited communal electricity in the ramadas. We had tried to have a few electric heaters at our feet, but we blew the breaker so the park ranger had to come by and reset it! Electricity was a challenge, but after a few set backs, we got it together! Then folks brought in propane tanks with big gas heaters to save the day.

Spirits high and staying warm, we were a true community coming together for the kids. People at four machines and two irons – with heavy-duty extension cords between the ramadas kept everything powered up. Everyone was coming to watch and stay with us ... and next thing you know, we had fresh-baked-in-the-trailer brownies, cookies and cranberry bread! The makeshift sewing room became the place to hang out!! Even with the weather, it was a wonderful success and we got five quilt tops done!

By Thursday, we had a full house — 6 machines, 2 irons, a glue basting area and more donations! We had music, lunch breaks and it was an amazing day that ended in twelve completed quilt tops! The heat was still going, but it was the warmth of heart that kept us together!

On Friday, the weather was still a bit nasty but the sun had come out. A few attendees left the rally in search of warmer temperatures, but we still had a contingent of sewists and supporters remaining! Due to scheduling, we only had 2 hours to finish up, so we made sure each quilt top started was completed. I even had time to share some improvisational quilting with the group. And, with the help of a spunky four-year-old, we made two more tops while I told her about the destination of the Quilts for Kids. She couldn't pick out the fabrics for "her" quilt fast enough! We got 14 quilt tops done! During the afternoon, everyone was together and we had the opportunity to show the Quilts for Kids quilt tops, thank everyone for their support, and applaud the 4CU for a hugely successful charity event to kick off 2015!

Finally, on Saturday, people were winding down their weekend and beginning to head out. The machines didn't come out, but the sun did and coats were shed with the better weather! We took this opportunity to sort through the bag of donated fabrics and made a few more quilt kits modeled after the kits directly from Quilts for Kids Headquarters.

I cannot tell you how wonderful this weekend was for everyone. A number of truisms came to mind during the rally ... "Many hands make light work".... "Teach a man to fish..." "Pay it forward..." The 4CU can be proud of this effort of giving from the heart. Thank you all!

I want to thank all the wonderful staff at Quilt for Kids Headquarters in Fairless Hills, PA for guiding me through this event. It would have been impossible without you all. Your support and enthusiasm for this endeavor will carry us through the next. Everyone is looking forward to doing this again! Much love to you and much love for the kids!

Anthony and Tamara Rodriguez were our co-hosts for this rally. We all had a very festive time! The clubhouse was decorated beautifully with Tamara's perfect eye for setting the party mood.

On arrival day with people setting up and all, we asked everyone to “bring a hearty appetizer and we’ll call it dinner”. That worked very well and we really had a wider variety of dishes.

Saturday night we came together in our most outrageous party gear. Lots of sparkles and feathers! Jesters, even! We feasted on a big pot of Jambalya, Gumbo, red beans, sides, and an array of desserts to include traditional King Cakes.

Being near Sedona, folks explored the area. Dale and Susan Schwamborn came for a day visit. Dale held a Q and A session and they stayed to share our ethnic feed with us.

Sunday, we did something different and had everyone bring a dish from their heritage, either ethnic or regional. We put out cards so folks could describe the dish and where it was from. Talk about America being a melting pot! We had everything from Posole to Polish Noodles (Haloushka). Major yum!

Thanks to everyone who participated and made this such a great time, and especially thank you to Anthony and Tamara!

Member Spotlight: "Huge Storm" . . . "Tornado" . . . "Roof Blew Off" . . . "Your Airstream" by Don & Marilyn Sluyk

Those were the words I heard in my voice mail at the Chicago airport when returning from Germany last June, along with "please call!"

Upon calling while still in the airport, the same words were repeated with not much more detail - even after repeated questions. Between the airport noise, me being hard of hearing and 71, along with my friend being over 80, I figured it was the end of my 1960 Tradewind Airstream. I told him I would come up to Flagstaff from Phoenix as soon as we got home.

About three years ago a tornado went through Belmont, which is about 20 miles west of Flagstaff. It caused several semi trucks and railroad cars to be overturned, plus extensive damage to Camping World and many RVs. Camping World was closed for about a year due to the damage.

For two days and nights I struggled with worrying thoughts running through my head -

- "How could an Airstream's roof be torn off? Especially a vintage airstream with every rivet ½" to 1" apart ... ?"

- "It could be blown over, but blown apart?"

- "They made airplanes with the same rivets and aluminum to withstand more wind and forces than any storm!"

- "If it also rained, would everything inside also be destroyed?"

- "I will have to write to Airstream to find out how this could happen. Were there defects with 1960 Tradewinds?"

Upon arriving home, there was my Tradewind . . . just as perfect and untouched as ever!

The "rest of the story" was finally made clear. My friend lives in a 50 year-old mobile home trailer in between two permanent buildings, all made into a house and garage. The roof to his trailer was peeled back about 30 feet by the storm, and he had called me to ask if they could stay in our Airstream while rebuilding!

My faith and pride in Airstreams was restored!

Member News Notes

By Terry Rich

Steve & Reg Bittner (Camp Verde, AZ) sadly have been forced to say goodbye to their dog Stella before her time ... after she sustained a back injury that rendered her partially immobilized and in severe pain. It's hard enough to lose our pets ... and even harder when it's the result of an injury. We are sorry for your loss, Steve & Reg.

Reg writes "Our little princess, Stella, was all dolled up and ready to go but didn't quite make it. She passed away a couple days before the Rally" (Mardi Gras).

Jeff & Barb Engelmann's (Tempe, AZ) daughter is spending a year in England, and Barb is going across the pond to visit her in March. What a nice opportunity for a trip! Bon voyage, Barb! Hope you have a fabulous time!

On 16 March Jim & Marcy Gray (Bellvue, CO) headed overseas to Phnom Penh, Cambodia, as volunteers for another Habitat for Humanity build there. (Sans trailer, no doubt!) Wow! What an adventure, you two! After the build, they are traveling solo to northern Thailand and Laos, and plan to return to the states on 13 April. We look forward to hearing all about your trip! Travel safe!

Bob & Sue Martin (Spokane, WA Summers/Sun City West, AZ Winters), were on I-10 on their way to Quartzsite on 20 Jan as part of a camping club caravan and were rear-ended by a brand new diesel tractor (cab only, no trailer attached) when the truck driver fell asleep at the wheel. Their trailer is totaled of course, as was the tractor cab. The trucker ended up in the hospital with his injuries. Bob & Sue's tow vehicle sustained some damage, as the trailer was pushed into it, but it was still drivable. They are now in search of another rig...theirs was a '99 23' Safari and they are looking for another vintage rig of similar size, perhaps newer, and with twins. If anyone knows of a rig that may meet their needs, please contact them (email address in the 4CU Directory). They are upbeat folks and Sue seemed in good spirits when we spoke, but as you might guess, they are in the usual throes of dealing with insurance, etc. Sue says they feel like the Airstream literally save their lives by cushioning the force of the tractor cab hitting them.

Anne Pearse-Hocker (McAllister, MT) is originally from Virginia, but has been wandering around the western states in her Airstream for the last couple of years looking for a good place to call "home". She has finally had success, buying a cabin in McAllister, MT, near Ennis Lake. She says the cabin is a "work in progress" but she has 20 acres of flat land with beautiful views, water, and 20 amp service

... "so pack your fishing gear and come on out!" Be careful what you ask for, Anne! We might all show up on your doorstep! Congrats and hope you are surviving the winter nicely in your new digs.

Jack & Joanne Palmer (La Luz, NM) lost their handsome, long-time pal Lucky early this year. Lucky loved to get in the truck and hit the road with Jack & Joanne. He fought the good fight to the end with the care from Jack & Joanne and heavy pain medications, but his good days grew fewer and fewer. Jack & Joanne miss him tremendously, and we share your loss. RIP, Lucky ...

Peter & Susan Rachtman (Corrales, NM) have sold their vintage Airstream motorhome, and purchased a newer Airstream 396XL A-class motor home with double slides — which will work better for them as Susan continues to work from the road while they travel. Congratulations on the new rig! It looks great ... but wait ... is that SNOW??

Terry Rich & Greg Schmuker (Tucson, AZ) said goodbye to their Miss Sadie, their blonde cocker in January. She was nearly 17 years old and had a long, happy life, trailering with them all over the SW, CA, and even Mexico. The cancer in her jaw that was removed 4 years ago recurred with a vengeance in September. Terry & Greg are grateful that she was able to be with them for their holiday trip and the New Year's Rally to get one last pat from many of her 4CU friends.

Lake Pleasant Maricopa County Regional Park February 2009

Travel Log & Photos by Terry Rich & Greg Schmuker

Preface: We have been to Lake Pleasant several times — with friends, on our own, and for 4CU rallies ... in fact, we've camped there as recently as last month on our way home to Tucson after the Lo Lo Mai Rally... but our first visit sticks in our minds because it was a brand new experience for us... so we relate here our first visit in February of 2009:*

Our 4CU (at the time) friend Sandy from Salt Lake City used to travel to Arizona for a couple of months each year with her two Samoyeds, Cody and Tasha. We met Sandy in April 2008 when we were at Dead Horse Ranch State Park. She joined us at the Dead Horse 3 Rally in 2009. Sandy had some personal business to take care of in Phoenix, so when the rally ended we decided to extend the trip south with Sandy and go to Cave Creek Regional Park with her, about 7 miles east of I-17 just north of Metro Phoenix, north off Carefree Highway (and the site of the upcoming Friday the 13th Rally).

We were our own mini-caravan of two Airstreams on our way to Cave Creek, which was fun. Several folks waived a thumbs up to us as we headed south on I-17. We got to Cave Creek without any problem, but alas, when we got there, we learned that they were full to overflowing with a waiting list in the overflow area 7 or 8 units deep. None of us really wanted to stay there because we had no guarantee of how many days it would be before we'd be able to get in.

The ranger suggested Lake Pleasant Regional Park, another park in the Maricopa County Regional Park system, which is about 11 miles west of I-17 north off Carefree Highway, so it was not a long trip to get there from Cave Creek. The ranger called Lake Pleasant for us and they had electric sites available! So we drove through the Cave Creek grounds to check it out for future reference, before we hustled on over to Lake Pleasant. Cave Creek was a really nice place ... plush feeling desert vegetation, nice sites and pleasant atmosphere. (To this day we have not stayed at Cave Creek, so we are very much looking forward to the rally there later this month.)

We had known about Lake Pleasant but we'd never really considered going there because it's a big boating destination for the Metro Phoenix area. We envisioned it to be a parking lot set up along the lakefront with lots of boats and not really geared toward RVers. But at that point we were willing to take the chance. You just never know!

We got there with only one hitch ... Terry didn't make a turn he should have to enter the park off the main road and we went a couple of miles beyond the entrance before we found a place where both we and Sandy could turn around. (The road we were on heads to Wickenburg, AZ, northwest of Phoenix.) So at that point, we were then following Sandy into the park. The lake itself is north of Carefree Highway and we caught glimpses of the lake as we got closer. It's a pretty large lake, man-made, of course, with both private and public marinas on its shores. We entered the park, paid our fees for a couple of nights and headed to the camping areas, following Sandy. The woman at the ranger station had given us a very confusing map, so we didn't know exactly where we were headed. We just knew that we were headed to a camping area up on a hill overlooking the lake ... we just followed Sandy as she seemed to know where she was going.

As we got closer to the lake we were impressed with what we saw, and when we got to the area we were going, we were really quite "pleasantly" surprised! It was nothing like we had thought it was going to be. In fact by the time we got situated in our sites near one another, we all decided that this was definitely the silver lining in the "cloud" of Cave Creek being full. None of us would have known that this place was so nice if we hadn't ended up there by default! It was great!

Our site was a small one (but just right for a Bambi) up a steep incline to a knoll with the front of the Bambi facing the lake. And just down the road on the other side there was a larger site that Sandy's rig would fit into, also with a great view of the lake. This was perfect! We felt like we were the kings of the hill. One side of the hill looked north over the lake and the other side looked south into beautiful desert valleys toward Phoenix. We have since stayed on the south side of the hill facing Phoenix, and like that area of the campground as much as the lake side. Each site had a paved pad, its own covered picnic table area and a fire ring. There were also nice shower/bathroom buildings sprinkled about the loop. We had really lucked out!

We were struck with the sort of surreal scenery of desert vegetation and saguaro cacti around us with a deep blue lake in the background, complete with sail boats! We never quite got over that during our stay and it will be one of the things that sticks in our minds about our time there. It was really beautiful and totally unexpected. Sandy was particularly thrilled because she is a water person; spent a lot of time in coastal Washington state. The electric/water site area where we camped was actually one of two loops that sit on the crest of the hill. The loop we were in primarily looked out northward onto the lake, but from the higher sites (like ours) both sides of the hill could be seen. The other loop was mostly on the valley side of the hill, with some of the lower sites having a peek of the lake as well, around the lower end of the hill. Because of where these loops sat relative to the lake and the valleys, there was a good breeze in the early mornings. But by 10:30 or 11:00 AM the breezes calmed down and gentle breezes set in for the rest of the day. The host sites were great ... each was equipped with a “port” that the hosts’ RV could be parked under to protect it a bit from the summer sun and heat. Of course, at this time of year, the temps were not too extreme so the days were pleasant in the 70s and the nights were in the 40s/50s.

The first evening we were at Lake Pleasant (Tuesday) we reveled in the views from our sites and enjoyed an evening with a yummy chef’s salad in the Bambi — a combined effort between Sandy and ourselves. Sandy brought her special collection of Italian balsamic vinegars and olive oil as dressing. It was a great end to a good day. We were pleased to have found a wonderful place to camp and rest for a few days, remembering and smiling over the events of the Dead Horse Rally.

On Wednesday, after a great night’s sleep, a relaxed morning and a couple of walks with the girls to further explore their new digs, we decided to do a little exploring. The first stop was the visitor’s center beyond the loop where we camped. It sat at the east side of the hill facing the dam and a private marina on the opposite side of the lake. There were great views in three directions from the visitor’s center. Of course, it gives a good run-down of the geology and history of the lake, as well as a great lighted relief map of the entire area to help identify various sections.

Just down from the visitor’s center there was a path that led back toward our campground, and from that path another short trail took off to a small peninsula with a steep hill at the end. When the water in the lake is higher and the low “neck” of the peninsula is submerged, the peninsula will become an island, maybe 100 feet off the lakeshore. We just had to take the short hike out to the end of the peninsula and climb to the crest of the hill and sit for a bit near the couple of saguaros that were there. It was a great view of the lake and our campground sitting on the crest of the hill.

Continue on our tale of Lake Pleasant on our travel log and see more pictures at http://www.tbrich.com/azbambi/deadhorse3\_feb09\_lakepl.html . As we mentioned above, we have since been there many times, so be sure to look through our travel logs for additional visits to get a different perspective. There are both hookup (w&e) and dry camping sites, and all sites can be reserved online. There is also a dump station. We'd recommend this park in the winter, spring and fall. And if you are a boater, while the summers would be warm (hot), it's worth the trip to get to water ... a rare and welcomed thing for many of us desert dwellers ... but be sure to get an electric site so you can have AC! Enjoy!

58th International Convention/Rally

26 June – 4 July, 2015

Farmington, New Mexico

The 58th WBCCI International Convention/Rally will be held in Region 11, and in our back yard ... in Farmington, NM! The International Rally is not likely to be held in our neck o' the woods again for some time, so this is a good opportunity for those of you who would like to experience the International Rally.

There are a number of 4CU members already registered, as Paul mentions in the President's Message ... so we will definitely have a 4CU contingent at International this year. It would be grand to meet the "Forty to Farmington Challenge"! Can you imagine?

If you would like to attend and would like to park with your 4CU friends at the event, please let Terry Rich (Terry@TBRich.com) know, and he will add you to a list of potential attendees. We'll keep you in the loop as options and details of attending develop.

In order to camp together as a group at the Rally we must enter the rally grounds together. As Paul pointed out, ideas for the logistics of meeting and caravanning to enter as a group are being tossed about. If you have input, please let us know. And part of making that happen will be knowing how many rigs are expected ... so if you'd like to be kept in the loop, please let us know.

There is a registration form at the end of this newsletter.

More details are included on the form, in the Blue Beret, and at <http://www.wbcci.org/activities/international-rally/2015-farmington-nm>. We are expecting more and more information to become available as time marches on.

This is our chance to take the 4CU spirit to the wider club!
Hope to see you there representing the 4CU!
