One of the new items we introduced in the March newsletter was the beautiful cover photo. Each quarter the photo will be changed out to feature a picture sent in by you! In addition to the amazing rally photos we want to see the photos that all of you are taking as you journey out into our beautiful country! So if you would like to “compete” for the cover of the award winning 4CU newsletter send in your best “Airstream in action” picture! The picture will be judged by our Board as to which one will be featured on the September cover. So send in your full sized image (at least 2,048 pixels on the short edge) and let the best photo win the cover! Please send all photos to: ilene@bellhopadventures.com.

Hey members, remember we have a Facebook and Twitter account!

LETTER FROM THE 4CU PRESIDENT

✧ By Steve Bittner ✧

Hello all,

Spring has sprung and summer is just about here! We have been pretty inactive with our trailer community this spring as we were busy preparing a house for sale. We do hope to be out and about some this Summer and Fall. Hope to see some of you at the upcoming rallies.

International is right around the corner for those interested in the long pull to Michigan and trust me it is a long voyage as we made that trip last year for a wedding. But, I am sure our 4CU members, the Girards, will put on a great event.

The El Morro rally looks to be sold out at this time but space is still available for Labor Day at Mesa Verde and we hope to make that rally.

In the meantime, have a great rolling Summer. Travel safe. Looking forward to seeing you all soon!

BONNIE BOBMAN AT ARIZONA QUILT GUILD SHOW

4CU MEMBER NEWS

By Terry Rich

Bonnie Bobman (Scottsdale, AZ) was recently honored at the Arizona Quilt Guild Show in March. In her first time entering a quilt in a show, Bonnie won Honorable Mention in the themed category “Salute America” for her quilt entitled “Un-biased Nation”. Bonnie said she was genuinely thrilled and additionally shocked at winning the Judge’s Recognition Award - awarded for the quilt in the show that most impressed the judges. Wow! Bonnie’s statement which accompanied her art:

“Un-biased Nation”

January 2017, Original Design, Pieced and quilted by Bonnie Bobman

This improvised piece represents America and the values of diversity, inclusion, and creativity in the face of adversity. The fabric comes from shops across the country – some scrap fabric and some treasured prints. Representing the varying shades of this country’s people and the spectrum of opinions we hold dear, it symbolizes how our country is greatest when the pieces work together. It has flaws, but in it I see many varied communities sharing and learning from each other. Most importantly, like America, it remains a work in progress.

Congratulations, Bonnie! We know how talented you are, as we have witnessed over and over. It’s so nice to see you being recognized for your efforts. Stitch on!

As a side-bar, Bonnie reports that once again, members of the 4CU outdid themselves at the 3rd Annual Piecing at Picacho Charity Quilting event at the New Years Rally. With sunny skies and a little chill we were able to complete 10 quilt tops from the kits provided by Quilts for Kids, our beneficiary of these wonderful comfort quilts. Please check them out at their website at www.quiltsforkids.org for more information. If you would like to contribute throughout the year by making more, contact Bonnie at bAAmbi7as@gmail.com. We appreciate you heading up this great project, Bonnie!

Longtime 4CU Member Chan Chandler (Warwick, GA) got hitched! Chan and his new bride, Angie, were married on May 6! Congratulations, you two ... and welcome to the 4CU Airstream family, Angie! We hope to meet you sooner rather than later!

Howard & Carolyn Efner (Lamy, NM) Update! Howard is walking without a cane now, following his knee replacement. And Carolyn is progressing well with her chemotherapy. They have been adjusting the "cocktail" to minimize side effects. Her last round will be early in June. Keep them in your thoughts.

As we reported earlier, Lynn Eubank & Maria Beck (formerly of Angel Fire, NM) sold the Monte Verde RV Park in Angle. They have spent the last several months in their Airstream at a cousin's home in Las Lunas while they looked for a new place to put down roots. They have found a new home and will be landing in Bosque Farms, NM! Congrats on your new digs, Lynn & Maria!

By the way, Maria is going to represent the 4CU as our Delegate at the International Rally in Escanaba in July and Ed Stroetz (Thomson, GA) will be our Alternate Delegate! Thanks, Maria and Ed!

For the last several years Britt Quisenberry (Albuquerque, NM) has volunteered his time, sweat and travel to be involved with the Congo Water Project under the auspices of the non-profit organization Congo Projects for Relief <https://www.congoprojectsforrelief.org/clean-water-project>.

Britt has been there several times and is scheduled for more trips in the future. The Congo Water Project is focused on building a fresh water system in the village of Musumba in the Democratic Republic of Congo. In short, a 75 meter deep well has been drilled and a high capacity pump to lift the water has been installed. The water will be stored in a 500,000 liter tank and then with the aid of a booster pump it will be delivered through the village as safe, pressurized drinking water. The current water system is 60 years old and relies on a stream uphill to gravity feed two storage tanks and then gravity feed the village. Thus, in a dry year they have little to no water. Unlike most water projects in Africa where shallow wells are dug and often run dry and collapse, this is much more like a municipal water supply. It can be treated and sanitized if needed and it will supply the village of 45,000 people. In the future, we hope to install another well and tank, including a new pressure loop through the village to aid in getting water to the far edges of the village. This plan also includes a solar field to supply electricity to the pumps.

Britt gave an informational talk to the Moab Rally to explain the project, what it means to the village and to relate his personal involvement. As it happens, after the dust settled, we had a little extra cash from the Moab rally fees collected, so we are making a one-time donation to the project on behalf of the 4CU. If you would like to contribute to the project, please contact Britt at bqinabq@gmail.com. Thanks, Britt, for your involvement in this worthwhile effort!

Tanni Wells (Waddell, AZ) has retired after 40 years in nursing! Congratulations, Tanni! We hope this means you will have more time to spend around the 4CU campfire!

Are you moving?

Did you get married?

Do you have a new family member?

If you have news or life events that you'd like to share with the 4CU membership, just let Terry Rich know at Terry@TBRich.com.

Curious minds want to know!

AIRSTREAMING IN NORTHERN NEW MEXICO

❧ By Terry Rich ❧

In the March Newsletter we focused on Southern New Mexico. This time we will look at Northern New Mexico. There are a LOT of camping opportunities between the very well developed NM State Park system, national forests, and other federal lands. We haven't been to every New Mexico State Park but we hope to camp in them all eventually.

For general information go to the New Mexico State Parks at <http://www.emnrd.state.nm.us/SPD/>.

For general information go to the New Mexico State Parks. The NM State Park Locator (<http://www.emnrd.state.nm.us/SPD/FindaPark.html>) Page on the site is a handy reference to bookmark for future reference. You can jump to any park from it. The Fees, Permit and Rentals Page spells out the fee structure. Generally, primitive campsites are $8/night; campsites with water & electricity in NM State Parks are $14/night, and if sewer hookups are available those go for $18/night. Compared to AZ State Park fees which range from $15 - $35/night ... these are great prices! For NM State residents there is a yearly camping pass available for $180, or $100 for 62+ seniors. The passes reduce the costs to a handsome $4/night for W&E and $8/night with W&E&S. Can't beat that! Unfortunately, the annual pass for non-NM-residents is $225/year ... so if you camp more than 16 nights (based on $14/night), it's worth the fee. Sadly, there is no senior pass for out-of-staters.

NM State Parks

We have camped in several of the Northern NM parks but there are several more we have yet to see.

We consider Heron Lake State Park to be one of our favorites...it's northwest of Espanola, NM near Ojos, NM just south of Chama. It's a great area to explore and El Vado Lake State Park is next door. We know that several of our members enjoy Heron Lake when passing through that area, and we have even had a couple of rallies there! (We should do that again, yes?!) The park is large, has a nice mix of pine and cedar trees ... the lake has good fishing (on ice in the winter!), and there are campgrounds with water & electricity as well as dry camping opportunities meaning something for everyone.

After one of our Santa Fe rallies, we explored a few state parks in northeast and east-central NM...the first was Villanueva State Park east of Santa Fe. It's a nice little park tucked away in a small canyon. It's very quiet and a good place to relax and settle in with a good book.

From Villanueva, we headed south to pick up I-40 and head east to Santa Rosa Lake State Park. It's a "reservoir campground" so it was pretty far from the water and seemed to be populated by locals (some looked semi-permanent) ... after all it is the only body of open water for miles in any direction.

It was fairly warm when we were at Santa Rosa, so we decided not to stay and headed further south to Vaughn and east of US 60 to Manzano Mountains State Park. Manzano is a pleasant little campground a bit north of Mountainair, NM, in pine forest ... it's just above the scrub oak and piñon pine, so the park is not quite high enough in altitude to serve as a summer getaway, so it would be best to visit in spring and fall. The facilities were pretty new when we were there... very nicely done sites and a brand new dump station. Sites have water & electricity. The Quarai Mission Ruins are nearby, and worth a visit.

Federal Lands

We highly recommend the Jemez National Forest campgrounds NW of Albuquerque. We stayed at Jemez Falls Campground and really enjoyed it. It's high, in the pine forest and in an area with lots of see. This is where we saw a sign for Fenton Lake State Park but we couldn't add another stop on that trip. We did make one more stop: a small but really sweet campground on the Jemez River on the way south out of the Jemez ... it was Linda Vista Campground (dry camping) south of the town of Jemez Springs (a fun place) right on the river. It was under construction when we were there, but Bandalier

National Monument is in the Jemez Mts near White Rock, NM on Highway 4. We'll hit that the next time we are in the neighborhood. (See our travel log for additional details about this area: http://www.tbrich.com/azbambi/heron-jemez-balloon\_sep10\_intro.html)

On another post-Santa Fe rally extended trip, we did the Enchanted Circle in NoNM. This is a scenic drive that encircles the mountains that are home to the Taos ski area. If you start in Taos and head east and north, you will pass through Shady Brook, Angel Fire (where we stayed at the Monte Verde RV Park

State Parks in NoNM that we have not camped in yet, but have heard good things about include:

- Bluewater Lake State Park south of I-40 between Gallup and Grants, NM
- Fenton Lake State Park in the Jemez Mountains NW of Albuquerque previously owned by 4CU members Lynn Eubank & Maria Beck), Eagles Nest (and the state park there) then north and west to the Red River area, and finally Questa and south to Arroyos Honda and back to Taos. We stayed a couple of nights at one of the several national forest campgrounds on the stretch from Red River to Questa. Very pretty area.

If you travel from Springerville, AZ to Socorro, NM, on US 60, there is a very nice campground called Datil Wells Campground about 1 mile west of Datil, NM ... maybe 1/2 mile south of 60. It's a BLM campground, dry camping, free firewood, shelters at sites, not heavily used and just an overall nice place to stop for the night. Inexpensive, too. If memory serves, it was $4/night with a senior pass.

We can't forget Valley of Fires Campground, a BLM-operated campground south of Socorro of I-25 between San Antonio and Carrizozo, NM. It's a wonderful little campground that sits on an "island" of terra firma in the middle of a large lava flow. It's geologically quite interesting and there is an easy paved trail through the flow to get an up-close and personal look. The campground has sweeping views of the mountains to the southeast and beautiful sunsets. The campground offers both dry camping and water/electric sites overlooking the flow. Shower and a dump station are available.

The State of New Mexico offers every climate and every terrain you could want, all within a day's drive or less. As you can see, we have MUCH camping to do and places to visit before we can claim to have the State of New Mexico — the Land of Enchantment — covered. And that's not a bad bucket list item at all!

Be sure to check out our AZBambi Travel Log for our trips to these areas ... for pictures and more detailed information of our travels with AZBambi.

Happy trails,

Terry & Greg & Abbey

Rally Map

Click on a trailer for more info on that rally

There has been some back-end changes to the website that most will not see; these changes however will allow us to continue to update the site and lower cost.

On the rally page, we have now added a state outline with the state flag showing through it so you can quickly see where the upcoming rallies will be. We have also add a map to the bottom of this page with that shows the exact location of each rally in the four corners area. You can click on each of the airstreams on the map to get more information about the rally.

Check back often to the website to see new photo albums, rally information updates, and links: <http://fourcornersunit.com/>

Currently the future plans for the site includes updates to the forum to integrate it into the main webpage. By doing this, and simplifying the forum, we are looking to add an online member info in a private area, along with lower the overall cost to host the site.

CALL OUT: If there is anyone interested in helping to develop serverless architecture code for the website, please let Stephen know at webmaster@fourcornersunit.com.

2017 MONUMENTAL MOAB RALLY REVIEW

✧ by Terry Rich ✧

The Monumental Moab Rally was held at the ACT Campground in Moab, UT 8–12 May 2017 ... and was it a good time!

For those who don't know the back story ... Terry & Greg enjoyed a big loop trip of national parks and monuments in Utah in May 2016 ... our last stop was Moab, which is the vortex of Utah's red rock country. We thought, "Hmm. I wonder. This would be a great place for a 4CU Rally! We NEED a rally in UT!" And it was hatched. We spoke to the staff who were all for it, and we booked the entire RV park of 20 sites for 4 nights, arriving Monday and departing Friday ... leaving a weekend at both ends for travel.

ACT Campground is a small RV park of 20 sites along with a tenting area and rooms for rent. There is a community kitchen, outdoor kitchen, showers/bathroom, laundry, fire pit and now a big ol' yurt for groups of up to 30 people! We had full hookups, Wifi and cable! What more can we ask for?

A good time was had by all. We filled all 20 sites and we had 3 other rigs who couldn't get into the park but stayed at nearby RV parks and joined us for events ... not ideal, but it worked. Monday evening was a happy hour mixer. Tuesday morning we had coffee with Twinkies, Ding Dongs & HoHo's (which we called "Retro Sweets") and left all four days wide open so folks could visit all the many points of interest in the area.

Tuesday evening was a Burger, Brat and Hot Dog BBQ at the outdoor kitchen and grill with all the fixin's and a ton of shared sides and deserts. After the BBQ we had a presentation from Kim, one of the ACT

Campground owners about “Desert Varnish.” This is the black streaking you often see on the red rock cliffs. Now we know! Just ask us! (Thanks, Kim!)

Also Tuesday evening, Ruth Volmer, Diane Moore, Tamara Rodriguez and Bonnie Bobman had the opportunity to spend an evening with the Delicate Stitchers, the local Moab quilters and sewists. After a happy “half-hour”, the girls were treated to news about the current quilt show at the Museum of Moab and a short lecture by a teacher on a quilting technique. This was followed by a show and share of everyone’s current work. The 4CUers were encouraged to bring and show their beautiful original Airstream embroidery, one of a kind Asian fiber works of art, crazy-quilted denim coverlets and cherished heirloom quilts. What a wonderful evening of community in Moab! Thanks, all!

Wednesday evening we had an optional outing ... Dinner and the “Light & Sound Show” at Canyonlands By Night Tours. Dinner was a Cowboy Dutch Oven buffet dinner (which was really quite good) in their restaurant followed by a 2-hour night cruise up the Colorado River and back. The cruise included a talk by a host/guide who pointed out features in the red rock cliffs and explained some of the history and geology behind it all. Once it was dark, we were entertained with lights, music and a narrative with more history and information about the people who lived there. The boat was an open barge-like design with rows of seats allowing great views. As the boat goes up the river and back, the cliffs are lit and story told. It was a bit chilly that night but we were prepared ...plus they gave us blankets. There were 37 in our group, plus some other folks, but we didn’t fill the boat, which holds 144 people. Many have said this was the highlight of the rally, and we were so pleased that it was well-received and that so many of us participated. Those who didn’t held down the fort and minded kids and dogs.

Thursday morning the ACT Campground Staff headed by one of the owners, Cherie, and their “Artist in Residence” David (who is a writer and photographer and also mans the desk), provided us with a pancake breakfast complete with plain, blueberry and banana/walnut pancakes, ham and scrambled eggs to fortify us for the last day of sight-seeing.

That evening we had a pot luck (again a lot of great food) followed by a drawing for some goodies/prizes, a presentation about the Congo Water Project (see the Member News Notes section in the Newsletter), and stargazing, courtesy of Steve & Cindy MacKenzie, who brought their telescope.

Friday morning was departure time. Four of us had planned to stay an additional night just to decompress.

That was a good thing, but was a little sad to see all the Aluminum leave and be replaced by big white boxes of various types. It was a complete change-over and the park was again filled to capacity by the end of the afternoon. (Greg and Terry had witnessed this change-over take place in the reverse when we got there a day early on Sunday and watched Monday AM as all the big boxes left to be replaced with Aluminum! THAT was not sad!)

We want to thank everyone who attended the rally and helped make it a success. It was a great group and a wonderful mix of members ... we had several there for their very first rally, as well as a good number of familiar faces. There was much hugging. We even gained 1 new Affiliate ... some folks from UT who happened by.

We also want to thank the ACT staff. They were incredible. More than once we heard members commenting about how wonderful the staff was and how much they enjoyed not only the facility they have built but also the friendly environment they have created.

ACT owners Kim & Cherie have a 2006 19' Bambi just like ours... it's parked in a permanent site near the office and they rent it out like a room. Being Airstream owners we told them they ought to join our merry little band of campers! Cherie said they didn't have much opportunity to get out and camp, but I reminded them that when they close down in the winter, it would be a good time to escape south to warmer temps. So they may be 4CUers before long! Bonus!

OTHER WBCCI RALLIES

60th International WBCCI Rally

When.....July 22-29, 2017

Where .....Escanaba, MI

Info .....<http://wbcci.org/activities/international-rally/2017-escanaba-mi/rally>

There is a write-up about the 60th International WBCCI Rally in Escanaba, MI on page 37 of the August Blue Beret and the Registration form is on page 38. The link to the Blue Beret is:

<http://wbcci.org/airstream-trailers/wbcci-publications/blue-beret>

There is additional information in the President's Corner on page 3. If you are able to attend the Escanaba Rally, be sure to register early! It may sound too early to get your space reserved, but it really isn't as the electric/water/pumpout sites are SOLD OUT. There was a very healthy pre-registration at the previous year's rally in Lewisburg gathering.
